ELIE GREGORY (UK) | EUROCENTRISM

This 8Channel piece was both inspired by and structured around the meaning of the word 'eurocentrism'. The majority of the material for the piece was created by using various digital processing techniques on a field recording of some distant church bells. For the text, the wikipedia definition of the word 'eurocentrism' was used: "Eurocentrism is the practice of viewing the world from a European perspective and with an implied belief, consciously or subconsciously, in the preeminence of European culture." Also linked to the title of the piece is the structure a spin off from the classic, and all too familiar, sonata form, exploring what shape this classical structure could take in contemporary electroacoustic music. This piece also focuses much on foreground and background, often with multiple layers coinciding at one time. For this reason, the 8 channels are crucial to distinguish the parts from each other, give space to its density and to support movement, which is instrumental to clarifying and emphasising this version of sonata form.

Originally from Brighton, UK, Elie Gregory graduated from Birmingham Conservatoire in 2009 with a bachelor's in Composition. Having had a focus on electroacoustic works, Gregory moved to Berlin and started exploring songwriting and producing music for the vibrant club scene. With a portfolio ranging from electroacoustic music, pieces for instrument and tape and multimedia artworks, to LoFi electro and electropop, Gregory is currently completing a Masters in 'Elektroakustische Musik' under Prof. Wolfgang Heiniger at the 'Hanns Eisler' Hochschule für Musik in Berlin. Most recent works have been focusing on multichannel performances, exploring the movement of sound through space, often specifically composed for and realized at 'Berliner Lautsprecher Orchester' concerts, where the works take a physical presence in real, artificial and virtual spaces. Influenced and inspired by performances of their contrasting works in venues spanning from concert halls to underground clubs, Gregory's primary concern as a composer is to create a listening experience which is authentic, sensitive and not boring.

LUCAS MARSHALL SMITH (USA) | RATI (05' 48')

In Norse Mythology, Rati is the name of the drill used by Odin to acquire the Mead of Poetry from the giant Suttung. In coordination with Suttung's brother Baugi, Odin attempted to steal the Mead. Using Rati, Baugi drilled a hole into the side of the mountain where the Mead was being guarded by Gunnlod, Suttung's daughter. Taking the form of a snake, Odin began to slither through the drill hole. Before Odin was through, however, Baugi double crossed Odin and attempted to kill him by hitting him with the drill, but failed. Odin, having made it through the hole safely, stayed three nights with Gunnlod. Each night he would transform into an eagle and empty a moutful of the Mead into a jar. The third night, Suttung found out that Odin was smuggling out the Mead. In an attempt to stop Odin, Suttung also transformed into an eagle and chased him, causing some of the Mead to drop out of Odin's mouth and fall to the earth below. Odin later gave the Mead he collected to the gods and eventually to men who are gifted in poetry.

SANDRA ELIZABETH GONZÁLEZ (ARGENTINA) | ESPACIO IMAGINARIO (2016) (09' 54')

La obra electroacústica para sonido envolvente en cuadrafonía está creada empleando timbres procesados de violoncello, percusión, flauta y piano. Plantea el juego artístico con los esquemas auditivos propuestos por Gary Kendall, a través de la disrupción de la relación contenedor-contenido y el dominio de la perturbación. A partir de relaciones de incongruencia y congruencia entre fuentes conceptuales e imágenes fuentes, se organiza la obra en tres secciones.

ZAEL ORTEGA (MÉXICO) | OÍDOS DE ACERO (10' 03')

El sentido de una creación sonora no radica ni en la intención del creador ni en la interpretación del oyente, sino que se fundamenta en la «Escucha del Silencio del Sentido», es decir, en su apertura vital originaria y en su trascendencia de ser. Es así que esta «organización de sonidos», denominada «Oídos de Acero», procura de igual forma «Estar a la Escucha» de un doble propósito. Por un lado, está ampliamente inspirada en la ardua, inquebrantable y estoica lucha por parte de Salvador Zarco Flores contra el sordo desmantelamiento institucional de Ferrocarriles Nacionales de México. Por otro lado, pretende ser una mesurada evocación sobre la eclosión ideológica y cultural que aconteció en México en 1910, enfocada especialmente al Ferrocarril como construcción epistémica situada y, más específicamente, a sus honorables trabajadores. En definitiva, «Oídos de Acero» es una obra abierta que no sólo invita a pensar el Ferrocarril, sino más específicamente, a pensar desde el Ferrocarril dentro de una dimensión geopolítica.

Filosofo y organizador de sonido, Su trabajo se encuentra abocado principalmente a la investigación y la creación de una «EscuchaHistóricamenteSituada» como base para una «Ética y Política de la Escucha», que restablezca y restituya el poder político del Escuchar y que tenga como criterio material la Voz y el Rostro de un Otro radical, real y concreto: esto es parte de un proyecto de investigación iniciado en 2010 y dirigido actualmente por el Dr. Enrique Dussel. Es autor, junto con la antropóloga y socióloga Ana Güemes, de dos principales proyectos radiofónicos: «Aprender a Escuchar» (2014) y «Artes Electroacústicas» (2000), este último además de ser un proyecto seminal y pionero en México (ya que surge sólo un año después de que Radio UNAM conformara su primera barra de programación para jóvenes y dos años antes del primer festival Radar: Espacio de Exploración Sonora de 2002) y estar dedicado a la investigación y creación de «Otros Modos de Pensar el Escuchar», este proyecto ha sido apoyado por el FONCA en dos ocasiones, y ha sido avalado por reconocidos investigadores y artistas nacionales e internacionales. Como «organizador de sonido» en arte radiofónico ha recibido 4 premios de la Bienal Internacional de Radio (2004, 2008, 2010) y de Radio UNAM (2007). Algunas de sus obras electroacústicas y radiofónicas han sido presentadas en Alemania, Austria, España, Francia, Argentina, Cuba, y México. Ha recibido numerosas comisiones y encargos por parte de diversas instituciones, tanto públicas como privadas, para crear paisajes sonoros y obras de música electroacústica, arte sonoro y arte radiofónico. Como creador sonoro y radiofónico ha sido beneficiado, en dos ocasiones, por el Fondo Nacional para Cultura y las Artes de México (2007 y 2009).
